

Issue #21 May-June 2018

News from Revenue NSW

This month we invite you to our free 2018 Payroll Tax annual reconciliation and state revenue update seminars.

We talk about our support for Revenue NSW jobs for indigenous employees.

For feedback and ideas for future issues, please email us.

Private ruling online form

We made it easier for you to request private rulings. You can now complete and submit an online form and attach submissions and documents.

Please refer to the information including the circumstances when you can or cannot request a private ruling.

Payroll tax administration review

NSW Treasury is reviewing how we administer payroll tax and is asking for your feedback.

The Treasury review also relates to Revenue NSW's current practices in administering payroll tax. Payroll tax rates and thresholds are outside the scope of this review.

The review may identify further areas of harmonisation and consider arrangements of other jurisdictions. You can read the terms of reference as well as the consultation guide at Treasury.

Have your say by 5pm Friday, 6 July 2018.

Revenue NSW supports indigenous certified jobs

Every year, Revenue NSW manages 50,000 telephone call related to resolving fines debt. Much of these phone calls come from vulnerable or disadvantage customers who identify as being Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander.

The recent creation of our indigenous identified roles in the team will help ensure Revenue NSW recognises and resources an important customer base. This allows our customers to get support from staff with an appropriate cultural background.

Indigenous identified roles will enhance the already great work we are doing in our community outreach activities, by providing additional telephone access as well as direct referral at face-to-face events.

Revenue NSW's support for indigenous identified roles is in line with the NSW Government's Aboriginal workforce strategy. The strategy implements key initiatives to increase Aboriginal employment levels across the NSW Public Sector.
